Dear Dr. Rojo.

I was pleased to hear from Professor Fässler that you are willing to write an article tentatively entitled

"Parton Distributions and Lattice QCD calculations: a community white-paper"

Authors: Huey-Wen Lin, Emanuele R. Nocera, Fred Olness, Kostas Orginos, Juan Rojo*

for a future issue of our journal Progress in Particle and Nuclear Physics.

In connection with this, I would very much appreciate your confirmation on the following points:

1. You shall represent all other individual authors of the contribution, if any, in all matters laid down in this letter; your actions shall be binding upon all individual authors of the contribution. Any notice provided to be sent to the combined authors of the contribution shall be sufficient if sent to you, and notice to you will be deemed to be notice to all of the individual authors of the contribution.
2. The article shall be written in the English language. You will submit by e-mail a pdf or ps version of the manuscript (including all figures, figures captions, tables and references) to the Editor, Professor A. Faessler, no later than 1st December 2017 for refereeing purposes. After editorial approval, the Editor will ask you to send the LaTeX file with figures extra and also the pdf or ps file with the figures included to the Editor and Elsevier (relevant e-mail address will be sent to the Author by the Editor). The manuscript to be prepared in accordance with the Author Guidelines: <http://www.elsevier.com/locate/ppartnuclphys>.

3. The maximum length of the manuscript using the template sent by Professor Fässler, including illustrations, tables and references will be 70 pages.
4. Professor Fässler will judge the scientific and technical quality of the manuscript, and will decide, on the basis of advice from experts in the field, whether the manuscript is acceptable for publication.
5. Upon publication of the Volume in which your article appears, you will receive a remuneration of Euro 12.50 (twelve Euro and fifty cents) per printed page of your article, up to a maximum of Euro 500,- (five hundred Euro). You will be responsible for any subdivision of this remuneration amongst yourself and individual co-authors (if any) of the article, if deemed necessary.
6. You will receive one complimentary copy of the Volume in which your article appears, and you and any co-author of the article will be entitled to order copies of any book published by Elsevier Science at the authors' privileged discount of 30%, provided the order is placed with the publisher specifically claiming this discount. Furthermore, you will be provided with a link to your final article on ScienceDirect, which will offer 50 days free access.
7. Submission of your contribution constitutes your assurance that the material is your own original work, that it has not previously been published nor is being considered for publication in the same form in any language elsewhere, that you own the copyright to it, that to the best of your knowledge it contains nothing of a libellous or defamatory nature and that it does not otherwise infringe upon or violate any right of any third party.
8. If you use any copyrighted materials (text or illustration) in your article, you agree to supply, at your own expense, with your manuscript, written permission from the copyright holder for its use.
9. Please check with your own organisation whether there are any regulations or contractual provisions governing publication of your works and ensure that appropriate clearance is obtained. Any special requirements concerning copyright or remuneration are to be communicated to Elsevier when returning this agreement.
10. In order to provide for the widest possible dissemination of your contribution, you are requested to assign copyright in your article to us, including all subsidiary rights and all licensing rights, throughout the world and for the full term of copyright and any renewals and extensions thereof. For this purpose a copyright transfer form will be sent to you under separate cover.

As your Editorial Manager, I will be your first line of contact. Please contact me in case you have queries regarding the submission process, the status of your Agreement or of your payment.

The Publisher is Chiara Farinelli. E-mail: c.farinelli@elsevier.com

Please confirm that the foregoing accurately and completely sets forth our agreement by signing and returning a scanned copy of this letter with your signature to ppnp-eo@elsevier.com, at your earliest convenience. In case of multiple authors, you acknowledge that you are signing on behalf of all authors.

Yours sincerely,

Patricia Hudson
